CULTURAL TRANSFORMATION TOOLS

PRACTITIONER TRAINING

The CTT Practitioner Training Certification is designed to serve organisations who wish to build a high performing, values-driven corporate culture, and are looking for concrete tools that will engage the leaders, employees and whole organization in the change process. Lifting performance to the highest levels at work, to have a greater fulfilment in life, and to make a contribution to the wider community.

Participants learn how to use Cultural Transformation Tools (CTT), from the Barrett Values Centre, to map, measure and manage organizational change to ensure strategic alignment of goals with desired values and behaviours for successful results. It is designed to give you a deep understanding of the CTT Models and Tools, as well as practical experience on how to apply CTT in your cultural transformation process. The course also provides an opportunity for your own personal transformation experience.

This program is essential training for Senior Leaders, Human Resource Professionals and Organizational Development Consultants who are responsible for transforming workplace culture. Our goal is to provide practical, hands-on experience to develop your skill and confidence in leveraging the Cultural Transformation Tools (CTT) for leadership development and organisational transformation.

Perhaps you have attended CTT training before? If so, you may wish to re-attend this new training as a refresher. The new training materials and methodologies are redesigned to be more effective in supporting you as a successful CTT Practitioner with your client work.

The program contains material from both CTT 1 and CTT 2 and provides personal and hands-on experience of how to interpret values assessments results, how to deliver leadership assessments feedback, how to select and present a number of dialogue tools from the Get Connected workbook, and more.

Upon successful completion of the programme, you will be certified to use the powerful suite of values-based diagnostic tools with full access to all CTT products and online consulting materials.

Veda Srinivasan, Director, Talent & Culture COE, Dell

“Earlier this year I attended the CTT Practitioner course with Joanna. I chose to attend for two reasons:

- Culture is something that is taken very seriously in my organization and I felt the need to equip myself with more tools in this area.*
- As an HR professional I think we become natural custodians of a company’s culture and hence need to understand the subject in depth. It will definitely add value to the conversations we have with our key business stakeholders.*

I can confidently say that I’ve yet to come across a framework and set of tools that help you work with this space in a more comprehensive yet simple manner.

Joanna’s depth of knowledge in this subject and the richness of examples, where she has applied the tools, made it immensely valuable for a practitioner like me. She has an easy going style that creates a class environment very conducive to sharing and learning. Everyone in the group felt comfortable talking openly about their challenges and exploring layers of meaning in the reports. A very necessary aspect when you’re talking about something as personal and significant as values

I strongly recommend this course for anyone who is serious about exploring values, in personal and professional spaces”.

“I went to Joanna for guidance in entering the leadership team of a workplace that was new to me and seemed not to be achieving its full potential. She was able to pinpoint areas of the organization’s culture using the values assessment and my own unconscious tendencies, that shed light on new pathways for growth.

As a result of assessment and Joanna’s advice, we have brought our organizational leadership to a new level, empowering one another and making room for everyone’s strengths and creativity. I feel like we have been led to the summit by an experienced and knowledgeable Sherpa!”
